

A Look Inside Some Of Palm Island and Hibiscus Island's Highest Priced Homes

Palm Island and Hibiscus Island have the best views of the beautiful Miami cityscape, as well as some of Miami's most extravagant homes. With a peak in sales over the last year, many properties are setting history on these islands, some even a few doors down from each other. We have an inside look into some of Palm and Hibiscus Island's most recent sales over $24.5 Million.

135 PALM AVENUE

This newly built, absolutely stunning Palm Island home, recently sold for $29.5 Million. Not only is this property absolutely stunning, but the features are highly functional, making it the perfect home to live, entertain and relax in.

The 8 bedrooms and 8.5 bathroom home was built by Sabal Development and furnished by Roche Bobois, making the transition from indoor to outdoor living seamless. Some of the home highlights include a chef's kitchen, movie theatre, elevator, floating master bathroom tub and breathtaking custom walk-in closets.

Taking the highlights outside, this home features a one-of-a-kind backyard, with sweeping views, a summer kitchen, cabana and sauna. From lounging in the cabana to swimming in the infinity-edge marble pool, this space is where the buyer will be sure to spend a lot of time!

Jeff Miller with One Sotheby's International Realty and Mathieu Rochette of Compass represented the seller and Liz Hogan with Compass represented the buyer.